Art Unit: 3751

The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not).

Misnumbered claims 11-21 have been renumbered claims 12-22. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 2, 4, 5, 65, 7 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Petrone in view of Berry.

Petrone discloses the device of claims 1, 2 and 4-8 absent the feature of a lower section having bars upon which weight-training plates having bores may be stored.

(Elements 108 and 110 considered as arms)

Berry teaches a lower section having bars for storing weights having bores.

Given the above teachings the examiner notes that it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to include bars on the device of Petrone for the purpose of aiding in stabilizing the exercise device of Petrone.

Claims 1 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Evans in view of Berry.

Art Unit: 3751

Evans discloses the device of the above noted claims substantially as claimed absent the teaching of providing weight plate bars on said device.

Berry discloses a device comprising weight plate bars.

Given the teaching of Berry the examiner notes that it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide similar bar members on the device of Evans for the purpose of storing weight plates and stabilizing the device by adding weight.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as failing to set forth the subject matter which applicant(s) regard as their invention. Evidence that claim fail(s) to correspond in scope with that which applicant(s) regard as the invention can be found in the reply filed . In that paper, applicant has stated , and this statement indicates that the invention is different from what is defined in the claim(s) because.

In claim 12 it is unclear as to the orientation of the plurality of arms.

Claims 1, 9, 11, 12 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Evans.

Evans discloses a devices comprising: cross arms (144) which incline outwardly at displaced horizontal locations, said stand including racks (152) connected at the ends of the arms. As best understood Evans discloses the device of claim 12.

Claims 12, 13, 17, 20 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Desjardins.

Art Unit: 3751

As broadly claimed elements 62 and 63 comprise a rack. Applicant has not claimed any specifics of a rack.

In regard to claim 13 note elements (88).

In regard to claim 12, rack 62 and 102 also include arms which incline outwardly (not labeled)

In regard to claim 21 note elements 88.

Claims 14-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Desjardins.

In regard to claim 14 the examiner notes that it would have been obvious to manufacture the device of Desjardins to received plate holding at least 25lbs.

The examiner considers the angle of the bars (88) of Desjardins as arbitrary and to manufacture them at a thirty-degree angle is obvious unless the applicant prove the criticality of a thirty-degree angle.

In regard to claim 16 note opposing bar members (88 and 108).

Claims 1, 2, 3, 12 and 20 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Petrone in view of Desjardins.

The examiner notes that it would have been obvious to include the horizontally extending weight plate supporting bars on the lower end of the vertical stand of Petrone in view of the plurality of bars (88) located at the lower end on the frame member of Desjardins.

Claims 10, 19 AND 22 ARE rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Petrone in view of Desjardins and further in view of Ho.

Art Unit: 3751

Petrone in view of Desjardins discloses the device of claims 10 and 19 substantially as claimed absent the device including a latch member.

Ho discloses a latch member for securing a dumbbell to the rack.

Given the above teaching the examiner notes that it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to include a latch member on the device of Petrone in view of Desjardins for the purpose of locking the dumbbell to the device.

Claims 12, 13, 17 and 20-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Desjardins.

In regard to claim 11 Desjardins discloses inclined arms (not labeled) as a portion of stand (102), (62).

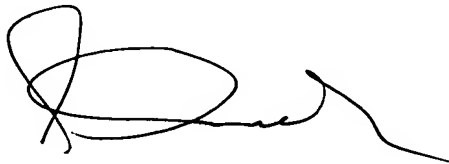

As broadly claimed the elements 62 and 63 comprise a rack capable of support weights. Applicant has not claimed any specifics of the rack.

In regard to claim 12 note elements (88).
